NEW · ANDROID

Screen time, without the guilt.

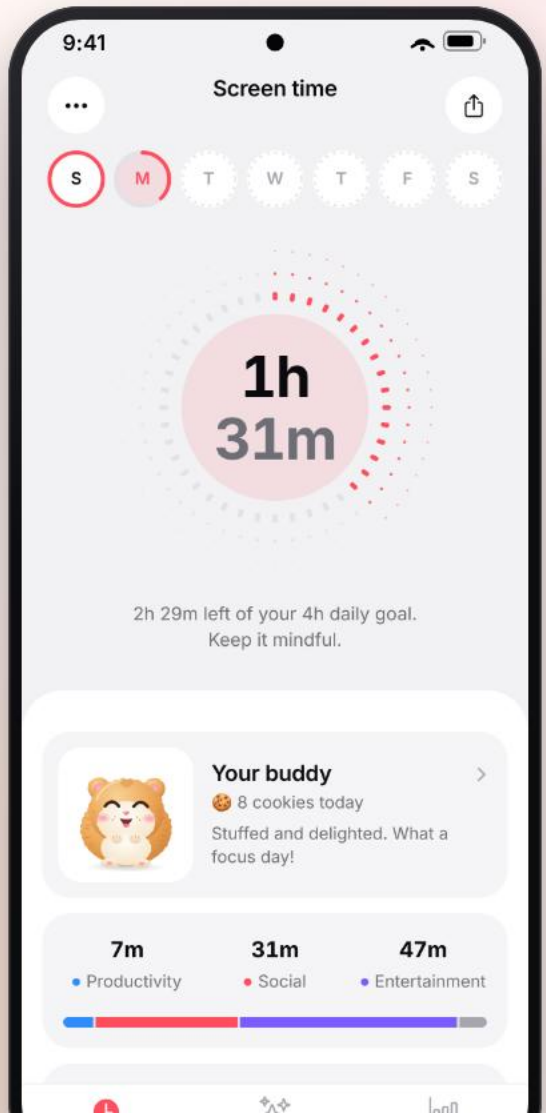

A calm screen-time tracker and focus app, designed with ADHD brains in mind.

Swipe →

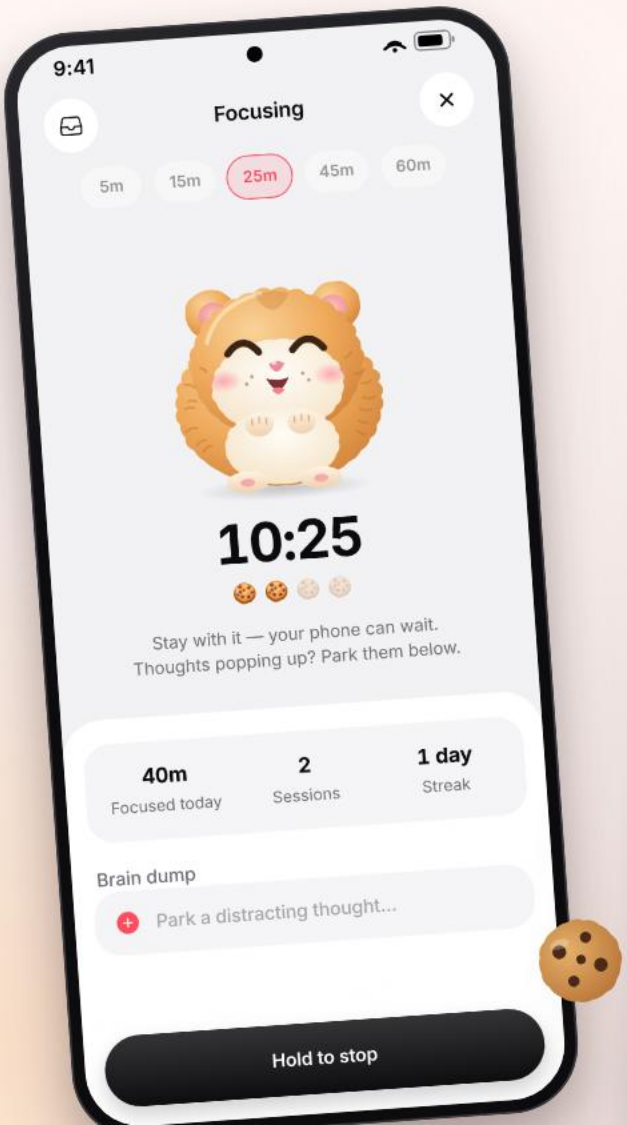

See your day at a glance.

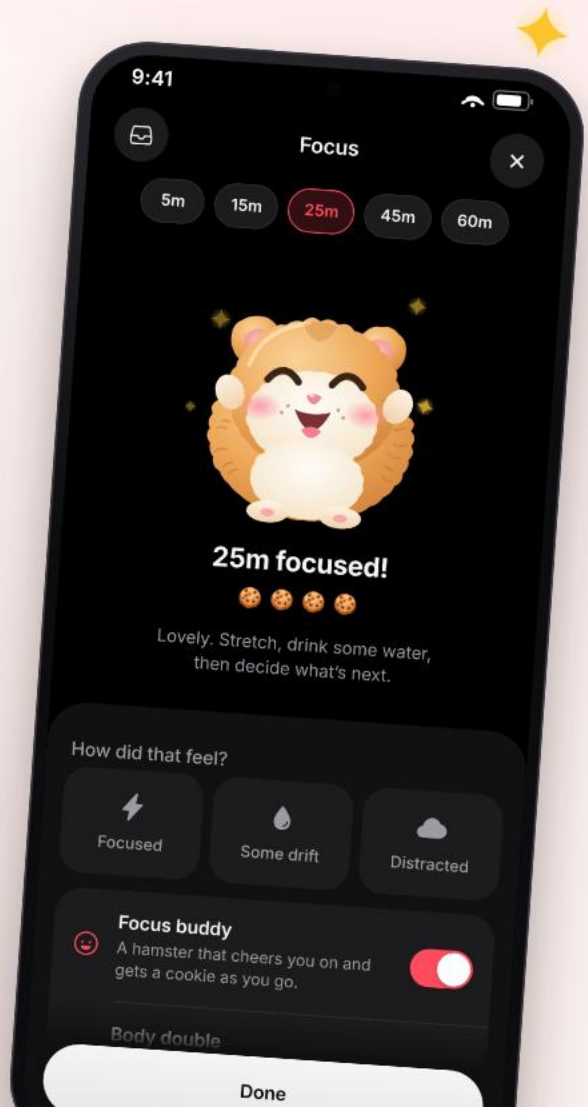

A calm daily dial, week rings and time per category. No red alarms, no shaming — just a clear picture.

Meet your focus buddy.

Start a timer and your hamster catches a cookie at every quarter. Finish, and it celebrates with you.

Tools for when your brain says “not now”.

🧩 Too big to start?
Break it into tiny steps, each with a short timer.

🧠 Head too busy?
Brain dump a thought in two taps.

📱 Reaching for your phone?
Pick from your own dopamine menu.

⏰ Time blindness?
Gentle time checks and up-next warnings.

🌊 Lost in an app?
One kind hyperfocus check-in.

Private by design.

Everything is calculated on your phone. The release build doesn't even ask for internet access.

No account | No ads | No trackers | Works offline

Coming soon on Android.

Follow along for the launch — and tell me what would help your focus.